++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Turning colder with wintry showers.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain clearing the far south with wintry showers continuing to feed around western and eastern parts, leading to some icy stretches and perhaps some lying snow. Cold and frosty for many inland and staying windy in the east.

Thursday:
Wintry showers in north and east gradually easing. Many areas seeing plenty of chilly sunshine though clouding over from the northwest later. Some rain and snow in the northwest later.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Rain clears southeast through Friday, with showers, organised at times, following, these wintry in the north. Often dry inland through the weekend, with frost. Sunshine and showers elsewhere. Rather cold.
